
Copybook - Second Life Viewer

Second Life Copiers viewer users: Finally on the "latest viewers list", there are many viewers that are being spread all around the globe without legal consent from the owner of the software. In most of the case, the owner of these viewers have not been alerted of their viral activity by the "illegal copybots" users so they have to spend a lot of time and money to repair their software. The following list is more of a legal warning: Veda viewer WannaViewer Nevertheless, there are many more SL viewers out there. Many people use this software because it is the very first viewer, able to read all the official textures. They will delete any mods or unofficial layers that may emerge and will fix any error in the texture file. Every time a texture is modified, the viewer will update itself and they're not planning to implement any new feature. In comparison, with a 3rd party viewer, the texture file is not the main part of the viewer itself, and you may make many mistakes. For example, you will not be notified of the new changes made on the texture file or there is an error. If I have put one viewer on the latest list, it is because it may have been modified illegally on a 10 unique mods, and as such, it may be as dangerous as any other viewer. I have searched for hours trying to find a list of those who are in charge of this kind of work and it is unlikely to find one. The lawless copybots are often made by very young teens or 20s and they don't even know that SL has its own cops and the police catches them quite easily. May 21, 2013 Piracy means downloading illegal software and copying without permission and it is called . Piracy in Second Life may be a good way of making a living but it is not acceptable. It is not only mean software pirates and "copybots". It is also players who are selling any clone of the same packages and thus giving access to the copyrighted software to the public. It is common for free software pirate to modify their copy and then sell it at a price. The term copybot is merely a generic name that comes when one who is copying from our free products without permission or with no permission is called as a CopyBot.

Whether it is a CopyBot software or a CopyBot player, it is a criminal act. It is a violation of copyright law and
